In first half of 2019, limit innings to 614 (pro-rated innings plus 30). In second half of 2019, limit total innings to 1100 for teams that used 584 innings or more in first half. For teams that used less than 584 innings, limit equals innings used in first half plus 516. In the day limit is equaled you receive points for all pitchers that day, and no more points for rest of season. (Limit revised 4-2011, 3-2012 and 3-2016)
You can play a player at any position Yahoo lets you for the first three weeks of the season. After that you can only play him at the position that he plays the most games.
Playoff games do not count in standings (9-14-2004)
Regular season makeup games count in the standings (3-31-2009)
If someone who has the next pick does not make it within 24 hours of a pick, the next person in the draft order could pick. You would not lose your pick if you are skipped and could make your pick at anytime if you miss it, but we would continue on with the draft if someone misses a turn.
If you go to Yahoo to pick up a player and he is not available, you send an e-mail to the group indicating who you are picking up and who you are cutting. Whoever sends that e-mail first gets the player. If you go to the Yahoo site and the player is available, you pick him up. If the player is on waivers for whatever reason, you go through the Yahoo waiver process. Every year the waiver order is set in the beginning of the season based on the reverse order of your point totals from last year. As per the Yahoo process, if you pick someone up off waivers you move to the bottom of the list.
Each owner contributes $1/week to the pot. An owner must put $1 in the pot if he adds an additional player and cuts another player.
Owner with the most total points before the All-Star break wins the first pot. Owners with the most total points since the All Star break wins the second pot;
Disputes will be settled by majority vote of the owners. Rule changes will be made by majority vote of the owners.
Each owner is allowed to make "honest" mistakes without penalty.
